

Parshvanath Charitable Trust's
A. P. SHAH INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY
(Approved by AICTE New Delhi & Govt. of Maharashtra, Affiliated to University of Mumbai)
(Religious Jain Minority)

Department of Computer Engineering

Expert talk on

I am Remarkable

An interactive workshop was conducted in APSIT on 14th of December by Google, entitled "I am Remarkable."

Mr. Ali mustufa shaikh was the speaker, who is one of the facilitators for #IamRemarkable.

The workshop started with a round of introductions, followed by a presentation about some of the obstacles that people specifically underrepresented groups face in the workplace. The presentation organically turned into a group discussion at points.

After the presentation, students were embarked upon an exercise. students were given a ruled paper with title #iamRemarkable, and they were told to write 3 points about themselves, one professional and another personal that what makes them remarkable in 15 minutes.

And after completing the exercise they were asked how many of them could come and stand out in the crowd and read those points. around 4-5 students read the points and told remarkable things about them.

After the exercise the students were told about how important is “self promotion”and what is the correct way of promoting yourself professionally and personally in an effective way.

The students were then told about various points which can change their daily life in a positive way and the students were also told how they can also become facilitators of #IamRemarkable.

Prof. Jaya Gupta
Faculty Coordinator

Prof. S.H. Malave
Head of the Department